About Me:

I am a 19-year-old New York University student. I am studying Biology, with as much of my free time as possible dedicated to Acting, Dancing, and making videos/creative content. I have a strong interest in all things entertainment, whether it's behind the scenes or in front of the audience. I've acted for 6 years, and have had several leading and supporting roles. I've also danced for over 15 years, with my specialty being hip-hop. I've been on and off YouTube for about 2 years now, and have decided to become more dedicated because I've enjoyed it every time I've hit the "upload" button. At the start of my Junior year in High School, I became an "Ambassador" in my school's "Transition Project" program, where I was responsible for helping a group of freshman assimilate into the High School life. We would meet with our students monthly, and would also be in constant contact with our students to make sure they were doing well. In my Senior year, I chose to continue in the "Transition Project" and become a "Highlands Hero". My role as a "Hero" was to now travel to the grade schools in our district and meet with 7th and 8th graders to talk to them about what they should expect as they prepare to enter High School. I've also dedicated over 200 hours of my time to volunteering at Community Medical Center in Toms River, NJ. I also enjoyed a summer of working as a waiter at a diner named "Allendale Eats" close to my home in northern New Jersey.

About My Personality:

- Very high energy and adaptable.
- Very, very positive (perhaps a bit too much at times)
- Intelligent, both in and out of a school setting
