I have worked at blood drives, assisted at the local food pantry, spent time at local senior citizen centers and assisted in raising money for fellow classmates in need. I have been an active participant in many areas at my school, have volunteered in my church and interned working with small children at Milwaukee's First Stage Children's Theater. In addition, while my first and most important job has been to be a full-time student, I do babysit frequently and assist my parents in numerous ways with their restaurant business and special events services company. My most important quality is my willingness to fail as many times as it takes in order to succeed.
